THE LANDSCAPE
SYMPOSIUM

DECEMBER 6, 2019 | WASHINGTON, DC

Join Us in Building a New, Bold Vision for Global Health

Global Health Council (GHC) is proud to announce that the 2019 Global Health Landscape Symposium (GHLS19) will take place December 6, 2019 at FHI360 in Washington, DC.

GHLS is GHC's flagship, year-end event, which convenes members and partners to reflect on the global health community's progress to-date and plan for the year ahead. This one-day meeting will bring together policy and program leads from global health organizations across multiple sectors in order to drill down on barriers and best practices to address changes in the global health landscape. Speakers and participants will be asked to propose both aspirational ideas and pragmatic solutions for the benefit of people served by nonprofit organizations, for-profit corporations, and government institutions.

We came together at last year's annual thought leadership symposium to reinvigorate our advocacy agenda and address changes to the global health landscape head on. At this year's symposium, we will continue to track our progress and work towards building a bigger, bolder vision for global health.

WE WANT YOU TO BE PART OF THIS NEW VISION FOR GLOBAL HEALTH.
